

Research Fellow

Role

- Write research based pieces discussing contemporary cross-cultural integration issues, across a range of sectors both in Australia and globally. The varied types of research are summarised below.
- Interview leading experts and stakeholders for written articles analysing different aspects of cross-cultural integration.
- Pitch your own ideas for articles or reports.

Time commitment

- Weekly email correspondence with the editor
- Writing commitment according to the Research Fellow Program Timeline
- Updates sent to editor according to timeline milestones set by both the researcher and editor for Research Reports and Case Studies

Benefits

- Develop and enhance your research skills and writing ability- these highly valued skills are transferable for future writing, research, journalism and policy work
- Become an expert in cultural challenges-gain knowledge and understanding of one of the country's most significant present-day challenges. This field will be valued by employers as all future leaders and businesses will have to engage with a multicultural world
- Have work published online and through social media channels
- Enjoy autonomy over your work
- Develop relationships with key academics, and leaders in government and other fields managing cross-cultural relationships
- Develop interviewing skills- organise, conduct and write-up interviews with experts in the field of cross-cultural integration in Australia